Unfinished Business:

-Larry Lake talked to Denise Lake on getting a copy of the cd's of the cemeteries, but she did not give him an answer so he is going to talk to her again.

-About the school reunion: Lake found a couple more addresses of class mates and gave them to the president of the school reunion committee and Snider got 200 copies of a questionnaire sheet to her to mail out with the invitation, so hopefully we will get some more information to add to the history the society already has.

New Business:

-Basil brought in some photos and papers that he donated to the society, very nice additions to our history.

-Getting ready for a historical display at the school reunion.

-We went to the oldest cemetery that is on old M-72 to check out some of the dates and history of it, and it was very cool to see how old some of the stones really are and it was nice to find where Charles Scofield was laid to rest, he did a lot for our area and a few years ago we donated a portrait of him to the courthouse, because he was a judge there for a short time.
